

Ratthapala Sutta

(The need that we find out a spiritual teacher and his teaching, and we have to practice mental culture)

On one occasion, the blessed one, the Lord Buddha arrived at Thullakotthita. When he was preaching his doctrines there, Ratthapala, the only son of the leading clan also came to visit the Buddha and listened to his teachings very faithfully sitting in that assembly. Then the brahmins and householders of Thullakotthita, having been instructed, urged, roused, and encouraged by the Blessed One's talk on Dhamma, delighted and rejoiced in his words. Rising from their seats, bowing down to him, they left. Meanwhile, Ratthapala was happy about Buddha's message, and he was so glad to practice it totally. He thought that it is not easy to the holy life totally perfect, totally pure, a polished shell living at home. Therefore he decided to enter the community of monks and practice this valuable message as a monk.

At end of the sermon, Ratthapala arrived at the Buddha and said to him "As I understand the Dhamma taught by the Blessed One, it's not easy, living at home, to practice the holy life totally perfect, totally pure, a polished shell. Lord, I want — having shaved off my hair & beard and putting on the ochre robe — to go forth from the household life into homelessness. May I receive the going-forth in the Blessed One's presence? May I receive admission?" Here the Buddha advised him to get permission before ordination. Hopefully Ratthapala went to his parents to get permission.

When this was said, Ratthapala's parents said to him, "Ratthapala, dear, you are our only son, dear & appealing, raised in comfort, brought up in comfort. You know nothing of suffering. Eat, drink, & enjoy yourself. While eating, drinking, & looking after yourself, you may enjoy yourself by indulging in sensual pleasures & making merit. We don't give our permission for you to go forth from the household life into homelessness. Even with your death we would not want to be separated from you, so how could we — while you're alive — give our permission for you to go forth from the household life into homelessness?"

Although Ratthapala asked three times for permission again and again, his parents didn't like to give him permission for ordination. Because of no permission to become a monk, Ratthapala decided to lay down right there on the bare floor, [saying,] "Here will be my death or my going-forth." And he went without food for one day... two days... three days, four... five... six days. He went without food for seven days. However, finally, the parents of Ratthapala gave him permission to ordain.

As for Ven. Ratthapala — dwelling alone, secluded, heedful, ardent, and resolute — he in no long time reached & remained in the supreme goal of the holy life, for which clansmen rightly go forth from home into homelessness, knowing and realizing it for himself in the here and now. He knew: "Birth is ended, the holy life fulfilled, the task done. There is nothing further for the sake of this world." And thus Ven. Ratthapala became another one of the arahants, the enlightened ones. With the spiritual success, Ven. Ratthapala came back to the Buddha, and he informed his supreme goal to the Buddha. The Buddha was pleasant about his supreme goal of the holy life.

As an enlightened one, Ven. Ratthapala arrived at king Koravya's garden. There he spent several days. One day king Koravya came to pay his respects to Ven. Ratthapala. After an exchange of friendly greetings and courtesies, he stood to one side.

As he was sitting there, he said to Ven. Ratthapala, "There are cases where, having suffered these four kinds of loss, men shave off their hair & beard, put on the ochre robe, and go forth from the home life into homelessness. Which four? Loss through aging, loss through illness, loss of wealth, & loss of relatives... But Master Ratthapala has suffered none of these. What did he know or see or hear that Master Ratthapala went forth from the home life into homelessness?"

"Great king Koravya, there are four Dhamma summaries stated by the Blessed One who knows and sees, worthy and rightly self-awakened. Having known and seen and heard them, I went forth from the home life into homelessness. Which four?"

1. 'The world is swept away. It does not endure': This is the first Dhamma summary stated by the Blessed One who knows and sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened. Having known and seen & heard it, I went forth from the home life into homelessness (Upaniyati loko addhuvo).
2. 'The world is without shelter, without protector': This is the second Dhamma summary... (Attano loko anabhissaro)
3. 'The world is without ownership. One has to pass on, leaving everything behind': This is the third Dhamma summary... (Assako loko sabbam pahaya gamaniyam)
4. 'The world is insufficient, insatiable, a slave to craving': This is the fourth Dhamma summary... (Uno loko atittho tanhadaso)

Here is said four natures about our life that always happen. Nobody can overcome these challenges. That is why we have to find a spiritual teacher and have to practice his doctrines to overcome suffering.

"Great king, these are the four Dhamma summaries stated by the Blessed One who knows & sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened. Having known & seen & heard them, I went forth from the home life into homelessness."

"Ven. Ratthapala, you say, 'the world is swept away. It does not endure.' Now how is the meaning of this statement to be understood?"

"The world is swept away. It does not endure"
(Upaniyati loko addhuwo)

"What do you think, great king: When you were twenty or twenty-five years old — an expert elephant rider, an expert horseman, an expert charioteer, an expert archer, an expert swordsman — were you strong in arm & strong in thigh, fit, & seasoned in warfare?"

"Yes, Master Ratthapala, when I was twenty or twenty-five years old... I was strong in arm & strong in thigh, fit, & seasoned in warfare. It was as if I had supernormal power. I do not see anyone who was my equal in strength."

"And what do you think, great king: Are you even now as strong in arm & strong in thigh, as fit, & as seasoned in warfare?"

"Not at all, Master Ratthapala. I'm now a feeble old man, aged, advanced in years, having come to the last stage of life, 80 years old. Sometimes, thinking, 'I will place my foot here,' I place it somewhere else."

"It was in reference to this, great king, that the Blessed One who knows & sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened, said: 'The world is swept away. It does not endure.' Having known & seen & heard this, I went forth from the home life into homelessness."

"It's amazing, Master Ratthapala. It's astounding, how well that has been said by the Blessed One who knows & sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened: 'The world is swept away. It does not endure.' For the world really is swept away, Master Ratthapala. It does not endure

"The world is without shelter, without protector"
(Attano loko anabhissaro)

"Now, in this royal court there are elephant troops & cavalry & chariot troops & infantry that will serve to defend us from dangers. And yet you say, 'The world is without shelter, without protector.' How is the meaning of this statement to be understood?"

"What do you think, great king: Do you have any recurring illness?"

"Yes, Master Ratthapala, I have a recurring wind-illness. Sometimes my friends and advisors, relatives & blood-kinsmen, stand around me saying, 'This time King Koravya will die. This time King Koravya will die.'"

"And what do you think, great king: Can you say to your friends and advisors, relatives and blood-kinsmen, 'My friends and advisors, relatives and blood-kinsmen are commanded: all of you who are present, share out this pain so that I may feel less pain'? Or do you have to feel that pain all alone?"

"Oh, no, Master Ratthapala, I can't say to my friends and advisors, relatives and blood-kinsmen, 'All of you who are present, share out this pain so that I may feel less pain.' I have to feel that pain all alone."

"It was in reference to this, great king, that the Blessed One who knows and sees, worthy and rightly self-awakened, said: 'The world is without shelter, without protector.' Having known and seen and heard this, I went forth from the home life into homelessness."

"It's amazing, Master Ratthapala. It's astounding, how well that has been said by the Blessed One who knows and sees, worthy and rightly self-awakened: 'The world is without shelter, without protector.' For the world really is without shelter, Master Ratthapala. It is without protector."

"The world is without ownership. One has to pass on, leaving everything behind"
(Assako loko sabbam pahaya gamaniyam)

"Now, in this royal court there is a great deal of gold & silver stashed away underground & in attic vaults. And yet you say, 'The world is without ownership. One has to pass on, leaving everything behind.' How is the meaning of this statement to be understood?"

"What do you think, great king? As you now enjoy yourself endowed & replete with the pleasures of the five senses, can you say, 'Even in the afterlife I will enjoy myself in the same way, endowed & replete with the very same pleasures of the five senses'? Or will this wealth fall to others, while you pass on in accordance with your kamma?"

"Oh, no, Master Ratthapala, I can't say, 'Even in the afterlife I will enjoy myself in the same way, endowed & replete with the very same pleasures of the five senses.' This wealth will fall to others, while I pass on in accordance with my kamma."

"It was in reference to this, great king that the Blessed One who knows & sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened, said: 'The world is without ownership. One has to pass on, leaving everything behind.' Having known & seen & heard this, I went forth from the home life into homelessness."

"It's amazing, Master Ratthapala. It's astounding, how well that has been said by the Blessed One who knows & sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened: 'The world is without ownership. One has to pass on, leaving everything behind.' For the world really is without ownership, Master Ratthapala. One has to pass on, leaving everything behind.

"Now, Master Ratthapala, you say, 'the world is insufficient, insatiable, a slave to craving.' How is the meaning of this statement to be understood?"

"What do you think, great king: Do you now rule over the prosperous country of Kuru?"

"That is so, Master Ratthapala. I rule over the prosperous country of Kuru."

"The world is insufficient, insatiable, a slave to craving"
(Uno loko atittho tanhadaso)

"What do you think, great king: Suppose a trustworthy, reliable man of yours were to come to you from the east. On arrival he would say to you, 'May it please your majesty to know, I have come from the east. There I saw a great country, powerful & prosperous, populous & crowded with people. Plenty are the elephant troops there, plenty the cavalry troops, chariot troops, & infantry troops. Plenty is the ivory-work there, plenty the gold & silver, both worked & unworked. Plenty are the women for the taking. It is possible, with the forces you now have, to conquer it. Conquer it, great king!' What would you do?"

"Having conquered it, Master Ratthapala, I would rule over it."

"Now what do you think, great king? Suppose a trustworthy, reliable man of yours were to come to you from the west... the north... the south... the other side of the ocean. On arrival he would say to you, 'May it please your majesty to know, I have come from the other side of the ocean. There I saw a great country, powerful and prosperous, populous and crowded with people. Plenty are the elephant troops there, plenty the cavalry troops, chariot troops, & infantry troops. Plenty is the ivory-work there, plenty the gold & silver, both worked & unworked. Plenty are the women for the taking. It is possible, with the forces you now have, to conquer it. Conquer it, great king!' What would you do?"

"Having conquered it, Master Ratthapala, I would rule over it, too."

"It was in reference to this, great king that the Blessed One who knows & sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened, said: 'the world is insufficient, insatiable, a slave to craving.' Having known & seen & heard this, I went forth from the home life into homelessness."

"It's amazing, Master Ratthapala. It's astounding, how well that has been said by the Blessed One who knows & sees, worthy & rightly self-awakened: 'the world is insufficient, insatiable, a slave to craving.' For the world really is insufficient, Master Ratthapala. It's insatiable, a slave to craving."

That is what Ven. Ratthapala said.
